PUBLICATIONS

Books

1. The Imposition of Form: Studies in Narrative Representation and Knowledge, Princeton University Press, 1987. German edition spoken for by Passagen Verlag.

Part One: Introduction; Three-part chapter on Kant's Logic, Third Critique, and Second Critique; Chapter on Goethe's Wahlverwandtschaften and Farbenlehre
 Part Two: Three-part Chapter on Austen; Chapters on Balzac and Stendhal, Melville, and Proust.

2. Lines of Thought: Discourse, Architectonics, and the Origin of Modern Philosophy. Duke University Press, 1996. French edition forthcoming from L'Harmattan, Paris. German edition spoken for by Passagen Verlag.

A study of the interdependence of discursive and linear form in the writings of Descartes, relating the "I" of the cogito to literary, autobiographical representation and architectonics, and locating in that relation the twin origin of the modern as epistemology and aesthetics. Introduction, "What is Modern?," followed by three Parts, eight Chapters, investigating the relationships between autobiography and method, letters and lines, comparison and thought, and imagination and historical context, in Descartes' Discours de la Méthode, Géométrie, Regulae, Méditations, Recherche de la Vérité and other works. A ninth Chapter on the querelle des anciens et des modernes and the relation of beauty to imagination and convention in the aesthetics of the Cartesian architectural theorist, Claude Perrault.

3. Birth of a Nation'hood, Editor with Toni Morrison, and Contributor, NY: Pantheon Books, 1997.

Contribution: "The 'Interest' of the Simpson Trial: Spectacle, National History, and the Notion of Disinterested Judgment, pp. 367-413. (Analysis of nationalist history, aesthetics, and conceptions of "race" in view of enlightenment theory of judgment and imagination, in Kant and Arendt)

4. In the Place of Language: Literature and the Architecture of the Referent. Fordham University Press, 2009 (Volume 3 of Writing and Building).

An investigation of the ways in which language can be made to "take place" and of the relation between the discursive-material formation of place and the possibility of referential historical knowledge, with specific emphases on its literary representation in Goethe.

Works-in-Progress

Writing, or Building: the Architectonic Moment in Enlightenment and Post-Enlightenment Literature and Philosophy. (Vol. 1 of Writing and Building)

A book on the function of architectonic form in philosophy and literature from the Enlightenment on. Part One: Chapter 1, Introduction: Architecture in the Discourse of Modern Philosophy: Descartes to Nietzsche; Chapter 2, on architectonics as "the art of reason" in Kant's First Critique and the "use" and status of architecture in the Third Critique. Part Two: Chapters Three, Four, and Five on the uses of the architectonic in Racine, Baudelaire, and Broch. Chapter Six, Epilogue, on architectonics and architectural history in Kant and Rousseau.

The Substance of Time: "Architectural History" from Hegel to Sebald. (Vol. 2 of Writing and Building)

A book on the fundamental -- theoretical and experiential -- relation of built matter to philosophical and literary representations of historical change. Chapter One, on the origin and dissolution of art as "sign" and "symbol" from the pyramids through romantic poetry in Hegel's Aesthetics. Chapter Two, on history and architecture in Hölderlin and Benjamin; Chapter Three, on the turn from language to building in the double account of the origin of society in Rousseau's Discours sur l'origine et les fondements de l'inégalité parmi les hommes; Chapter Four, on the Bildungsroman and the life of building in Balzac's Père Goriot; Chapter Five, on memorialization of experience and building for the future in Proust and Sebald; Chapter Six, on habitable and uninhabitable "building" in Heidegger and Kant.

Aesthetic Activity. With Toni Morrison, at the invitation of the author.

A book of published and previously unpublished essays on Morrison's fictional and critical writing and two long interviews with Morrison on her novels, and her poetic work for the stage, Desdemona (dir. Peter Sellars, theatrical premiere, Lincoln Center, NYC, 2011). All the essays are written, two are published; both interviews are completed and transcribed.

History of Discourse, History of Thought: Descartes, Kant, Hegel.

A three-part monograph on the concepts of "sign," "discourse," and "symbol" as these define and are redefined in historically pivotal accounts of thinking.

Uses of Uncertainty.

An evaluation of the significance of uncertainty represented and demonstrated in central works of European literature and philosophy, 17th-19th century.
